OVERVIEW STATE OF PAY

insight into small business payments

“No one we’ve surveyed thinks it’s reasonable for small businesses to be used like banks for larger businesses”

Great Australian companies are going out of business because they are not being paid on time. With a culture of late payment, small businesses need to arm themselves with processes that ensure they are not the last in line to get paid.

With state governments Australia all over working tirelessly to stamp out late payments to SMEs, it is certainly a hot topic which draws great interest.

It is a well known fact that streamlining the payment experience ensures time and cost savings – a concept which is further explored in our State of Pay report.

KEY PAY FACTS

“No one we’ve surveyed thinks it’s reasonable for small businesses to be used like banks for larger businesses”

Number of small businesses is growing 2,171,544, an increase of 2.4% over past 12 months*

Taking a client's credit card number as a form of deposit has somewhat become an accepted way of doing business. Businesses consulted said they are seeing a reduction in the number of late payments over the past 12 months when an automated solution is in place.

Many business owners also noted the positive impact of prompt and efficient payments had on their mental health, inducing stress and anxiety over unpaid invoices.

STATE VERSUS STATE

QLD

Queensland respondents with a account package payment integration spent the least amount of time chasing and collecting money (66% spend less than 30-minutes a week).

NSW

When NSW businesses started to collect money online - moving away from traditional methods such as cheque and cash - they halved the time spent chasing money.
